MARKET REVIEW, OUTLOOK AND STRATEGY

Last month, the Debt Management Office (DMO) conducted its FGN bond Auction for Nov-2023, with N360.0bn worth of papers on offer across the following tenors: APR 2029, JUN 2033, JUN 2038, and JUN 2053. During the auction, investors demonstrated robust demand, buoyed by ample liquidity in the system. The preference was notably tilted towards instruments with longer tenures. For instance, investors' interest was majorly skewed towards the 2053s, which accounted for 74.17% of subscriptions. Thus, the auction was oversubscribed, with total subscription printing at N445.3bn. Notably, the DMO oversold the auction, allotting a total of N434.5bn vs 360.0bn on offer signaling the government's strong reliance on the domestic debt market. This indicates a bid-to-cover ratio of 1.0x. Consequently, the marginal rate on the 2029s, 2033, 2038s and 2053s papers climbed by 110bps, 125bps, 170bps and 140bps to settle at 16.00%, 17.00%, 17.50% and 18.00%, respectively.

In the secondary market, we observed sell pressures dominate the market as investors' sentiments were mainly bearish. This is due to investors desire to drive secondary bond yields higher. Additionally, the activities in the primary market and the CBN's deployment of orthodox methods supported the move. Thus, average yields on sovereign bonds climbed higher to print at 15.72% in Nov-2023, a 39bps m/m increase from 15.33% print in Oct-2023.

On the other hand, we observed buy pressures in corporate bonds, as average yields at the end of Nov-2023 fell by 7bps m/m to close at 16.41% (previously 16.48%). Similarly, the FGN Sukuk bonds closed bullish as average yields on Sukuk bonds declined by 14bps m/m to close at 14.83% compared to the previous month's close of 14.97%.

Looking ahead, we maintain our expectations of continued reliance on the domestic debt market by the Federal Government (FG), as evidenced by the dwindling government revenue. This will drive the supply of bonds in the primary market as the FG sought capital expenditure financing. In line with the climb in rates at recent auctions, we expect marginal rates to trend higher as the CBN aims to drive rates higher. In the secondary market, we anticipate an overall bearish sentiment to dominate the market. However, we may see pockets of buy-interests as investors may want to take position given the high yields in the market.

PERFORMANCE REVIEW

The United Capital Sukuk Fund returned 1.28% for the month of November and an annualised return of 11.53%, relative to the annualized return of 15.06% posted by the benchmark for the same period.

The FGN Sukuk bonds closed bullish as average yields on Sukuk bonds declined by 14bps m/m to close at 14.83% compared to the previous month's close of 14.97%.

Due to the recent attraction to Sukuk funds, we expect more issuances to take place in the coming months. We would continue to watch out for attractive sukuk offers to boost return.

The Fund maintains sufficient exposure to FGN Sukuk, money market instruments and sub-sovereign and corporate Sukuk with significantly higher yields. We will maintain current allocation to enhance returns for the Fund.
