FUND OBJECTIVE

The main objective of the Fund is to achieve consistent income streams through investment in select portfolio of securities and investments specified in the Trust Deed. The Fund's assets are invested in Federal Government bonds, Sub-national bonds, corporate bonds and high-quality money market securities. The Fund is not affected by the fluctuations in the equity markets. However, opportunities for capital appreciation are dependent on changes in interest rate.

MARKET REVIEW, OUTLOOK AND STRATEGY

The Debt Management Office (DMO) conducted the October 2025 bond auction with a total offer size of N260bn, split between the reopened 2030 ("5-year") and 2032 ("7-year") bond papers. Investors' demand was strong, with total subscriptions reaching N1.270trn, representing a subscription rate of 4.9x. Notably, the DMO over-allotted, selling a total of N343.76bn worth of bills.

The marginal rate on the 2030 bond paper fell by 0.17%, from 16.00% to settle at 15.83% and the 2032 bond paper fell by 0.35%, from 16.20% to 15.85%.

In the secondary bond market, we observed bullish sentiments amongst investors due to the Monetary Policy Rate (MPR) cut decision by the Monetary Policy Committee (MPC). Thus, the monthly average yields on the 2030, 2032, and 2035 bonds closed lower by 0.58%, 0.36% and 0.56% in October to 15.89%, 15.84% and 15.58% settle at respectively.

Similarly, we observed bullish movements in corporate bonds, as average yields in Sep-2025 fell by 0.44% m/m to close at 18.52% (previously, 18.96% in Aug-2025). Likewise, the FGN Sukuk bonds market closed bullish as average yields on Sukuk bonds reduced by 0.47% m/m to close at 16.23% in Oct-2025 compared to the previous month's close of 16.70%.

At the money market, the CBN conducted two (2) auctions with mixed results across both auctions. There was a total offer of N480bn offered at the first auction and N290bn at the second auction cutting across the 91-day, 182-day and 364-day bill.

The bids were majorly skewed towards the longer-tenured instrument, "364-day bill", at both auctions. The stop rate on the 91-day and 364-day bills climbed up by 1.02% and 1.07% respectively, to settle at 15.32% and 17.69% while the stop rates of the 182-day bill remained unchanged at 15.50% at the first auction. At the second auction, we saw a drop in the stop rate of the 91-day, 182-day and 364-day bill moving down by 0.98%, 0.99% and 0.95% to close at 15.00%, 15.30% and 16.78%, respectively.

Looking into October, the bond market is expected to stay bullish, supported by strong demand and improved economic fundamentals. Robust liquidity in the financial system could sustain investor interest in sovereign bonds. Meanwhile, corporate and Sukuk bonds could face mild pressure as investors shift toward FGN Bond to lock in at current rates in anticipation of further drop in rates.

PERFORMANCE REVIEW

The United Capital Fixed Income Fund annualized YTD return as at October 2025 is 8.84% relative to 15.99% posted by the benchmark for the same period.

The fixed income market maintained its bullish stance throughout the month. There was continuous drop in general rates triggered by the drop in the MPR, increased liquidity and an increase in demand for instruments. The fund manager also intends to take advantage of current trends and take position in current instruments with good pricing to optimize overall MTM returns.

The fund was also able to reposition using proceeds from Coupons and asset maturities to lock in to long term assets, maximizing all MTM opportunities.

Looking ahead to November 2025, we expect bullish sentiments to persist as investors continue to look for long-term positioning in the fixed income space to help preserve and improve the overall return which should encourage further inflows and better improve the funds AUM.

The portfolio remains invested in FGN Bonds, money market instruments and sub-sovereign bonds with decent yield. The fund is constantly monitoring the market to ensure optimal returns across all asset class while maintaining its current allocation to enhance the overall yield of the Fund.
